Denny Sanford was born in St. Paul, Minnesota. Young Denny developed an early work ethic during his summers, working in his father’s clothing distribution company. His mother died of breast cancer when he was 4; and his father and an older brother both died of heart disease at a young age.

After graduating from the University of Minnesota in 1958, Denny had a career in sales, marketing and materials distribution. He then established Contech Inc., a Minneapolis-based national company, manufacturing sealants, coatings and adhesives. The company employed 350 people, including a chemical laboratory with 13 chemists, developing products for large architectural buildings. In 1972, he took the company public and sold it in 1982. At that point, Denny took a different track and formed Threshold Ventures, a venture capital company.

In 1986, he purchased United National Corporation in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the holding company for First PREMIER Bank and PREMIER Bankcard. He currently serves as chairman of the board. The success of these two companies has helped the economy and created more than 2,300 jobs within the state of South Dakota.

Upon forming his foundation for charitable giving, Mr. Sanford's initial focus was to help sick, disadvantaged, abused and/or neglected children. To that end, he has been a long-time supporter of the Children's Home Society in South Dakota. He also donated money to build the Sanford Children's Hospital in Sioux Falls, as well as the T. Denny Sanford Mayo Clinic Pediatric Center in Rochester, Minn., and the T. Denny Sanford Pediatric Center at Florida Hospital for Children. He also donated funds to the University of South Dakota Sanford School of Medicine for their new pediatric residency program.

Mr. Sanford's attention subsequently turned to the fields of scientific and medical research. He pledged funds for the Homestake Mine Underground Laboratory Research Program in Lead, S.D., and donated more than $500 million to the Sioux Valley Health System in Sioux Falls (now Sanford Health), whose major initiatives include developing children's clinics worldwide and whose research center focuses on finding a cure for type 1 diabetes. Most recently, he also gave funds to establish the Edith Sanford Breast Cancer Research Center at Sanford Health.

In California, he supports the Sanford Burnham Medical Research Institute, the Sanford Consortium for Regenerative Medicine, the Salk Institute, University of California-San Diego, National University, the Zoological Society of San Diego and the Children’s Hospital of Los Angeles.

Other major areas of funding around the country include support of his alma mater's football program, Roundup River Ranch in Vail, Colorado, Crazy Horse Memorial in South Dakota, teacher education programs and gender harmony projects at Arizona State University. He has also made major contributions to the University of South Dakota’s Beacom School of Business, South Dakota State University and Dakota State University.

Mr. Sanford’s total giving to date is more than $1 billion.
JACK R. WARNER

GUEST SPEAKER

Jack Warner is the executive director and chief executive officer of the South Dakota Board of Regents, which provides governance and leadership for the six universities, three university centers and two special schools in the State of South Dakota’s public higher education system. Prior to this position, Dr. Warner spent seven years as commissioner of the Rhode Island Board of Governors for Higher Education, the governing board for the public research university, master’s comprehensive college and community college in Rhode Island.

He has dedicated his career to providing affordable access to high-quality education for individuals from a wide variety of backgrounds, who aspire to transform their lives through education. He is committed to the principle that the overall quality of a region, state and nation is improved when more and more residents are educated to higher levels and when research is conducted to enhance economic development and the public good.

Dr. Warner previously spent 32 years in the Massachusetts public higher education system, five of them as vice chancellor of the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education, the state coordinating board for 15 community colleges, nine state colleges and five campuses of the University of Massachusetts, and two as associate chancellor at the University of Massachusetts campus in Dartmouth.

Dr. Warner spent 17 years as dean of Student Affairs at Bristol Community College in Fall River, Massachusetts. He is a past president of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA) and a former member of the New England Student Affairs Think Tank. He has taught in the Boston College Graduate School of Education for 13 years.

In all his work, he has brought a sense of urgency to improve education systems at all levels, seeing the critical need to increase the educational attainment of our working population and to lead a strong commitment to improving success rates for underrepresented populations. In addition to wanting our country to slip no further behind our competitors in the global economy, he strongly believes in the enhancement of individual potential and satisfaction through education.

He holds a Doctor of Education in educational administration from Boston College; a Master of Education from Springfield College in student affairs administration in higher education; and a Bachelor of Arts in psychology from the University of Vermont. He is a past chair of the executive committee of the State Higher Education Executive Officers (SHEEO).

He and his wife, Celeste, reside in Fort Pierre, S.D. They have three children and four grandchildren.
Kelsey Ducheneaux was raised on the Cheyenne River Sioux Reservation. She is blessed to have a large, loving family and more friends than she can count, all of whom keep her striving for success. During her senior year at Timber Lake (South Dakota) High School she earned the Gates Millennium Scholarship, providing her the opportunity to attend any school in the nation. With a passion for agriculture in the Great Plains, she set her sights on South Dakota State University.

State has helped to further develop that passion. During her time here, Kelsey represented the College of Agriculture and Biological Sciences as a student ambassador, remained active in the Range Science Club, toured China’s agricultural industries and made relationships that will last a lifetime.

In addition to these experiences, and even more importantly, Kelsey has acquired a foundation of tools and skills that will enable her to use her passion for agriculture to help address the health, social and economic problems that are so pervasive on many Indian Reservations across the country.
Dr. Woodard grew up in White, South Dakota, in a family which included his parents Clark and Jean Woodard and his sister Carla. His wife is Sarah, and their family consists of their children, Laura, Ryan and Andrea, their son-in-law Tim, and their grandsons Jack and Weston.

Dr. Woodard began teaching at SDSU in the fall of 1975, and he has taught a variety of subjects during his 40-year career, including courses in American Indian literature, Midwestern and Western literature, poetry, peace and conflict literature, and English composition, as well as special topics honors courses. He has also written, edited or co-edited a number of books, including “Ancestral Voice: Conversations With N. Scott Momaday,” which was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize, and “Shaping Survival: Essays By Four American Indian Tribal Women,” which he co-edited with his friend and mentor, Jack W. Marken. In 1976 he co-founded, with David Allan Evans, SDSU’s Annual Great Plains Writers’ Conference.

Working collaboratively with tribal people on and off campus has been a main emphasis for Dr. Woodard throughout his career. For many years he chaired SDSU’s Native American Advisory Committee, a group primarily focused on providing encouragement and support for SDSU’s tribal students, and he also coordinated or helped coordinate SDSU’s American Indian Studies Program. In 1989, he founded SDSU’s fall conference, Consider the Century: Native American Perspectives on the Past 100 Years, and several years later, he and his friend and colleague Lowell Amiotte founded the annual spring American Indian Histories and Cultures conference. In 1993, he and Professor Amiotte founded the annual Oak Lake Tribal Writers’ Retreat and assisted in the creation of the Oak Lake Tribal Writers’ Society, and he has worked with society members through the years in the publication of several anthologies and numerous articles, poems and short stories. Dr. Woodard has also served as adviser for SDSU’s Native American Club, and in 1991 he and co-adviser Velva-Lu Spencer led efforts to establish SDSU’s Annual Wacipi. Dr. Woodard has also been invested in involving area community members in cross-cultural work, and in 1993 he created the Brookings Reconciliation Council, a group which has sponsored numerous activities intended to bridge differences in the state and region.

A Marine Corps veteran of the Vietnam War, Dr. Woodard has also worked extensively on behalf of veterans statewide, doing presentations and workshops and helping to establish the Literature and Medicine program at the VA Hospital in Sioux Falls. Related to these interests and involvements, he led efforts to create SDSU’s Peace and Conflict Studies Program, and served as its first coordinator.

Dr. Woodard’s career recognitions have included the SDSU College of Arts and Sciences Distinguished Service Award, the F.O. Butler Award for Innovative and Creative Activity, the Burlington Northern Foundation Faculty Achievement Award for Significant Scholarship, the South Dakota Peace and Justice Center Reconciliation Award, the Regents’ Distinguished Professor designation, the Dakota State University Distinguished Alumnus Award, the South Dakota Humanities Council Distinguished Service Award, the Brookings Human Rights Committee’s Butler Human Rights Award, SDSU’s Awards For Excellence in Building Inclusive Community and Excellence in Outreach and Engagement, the South Dakota Council of Teachers of English Author of the Year Award, and the Honors College Distinguished Service Award.

THE CEREMONIAL MACE

The Ceremonial Mace is traditionally carried by a university marshal at all formal academic occasions. The staff, which stands thirty-six inches high from top to bottom, is made of walnut with a mahogany finish. It is trimmed in 14k plated gold. At the top of the Mace is the great seal of South Dakota State University. The engraved inscription reads “South Dakota State University founded 1881.” The Mace was presented to the University as a gift from the SDSU Alumni Association and was used for the first time at President Peggy Gordon Miller's inauguration, September 19, 1998.

The Ceremonial Mace has an ancient history as a symbol of authority. In medieval times it was a studded, clublike weapon, made of iron and capable of breaking armor. It became associated with the protection of the king in France and England and was carried by the king’s sergeant-at-arms. In the thirteenth century it was used for civil purposes and figured in the processions of city mayors and other dignitaries. Eventually the Mace became a symbol also for academic institutions, an emblem of order and authority in the pageantry of ceremonial occasions.

THE UNIVERSITY PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The University Presidential Medallion, a traditional symbol of authority of the Office of the President, is a 14k gold replica of the University Seal, is three inches in diameter, and is cast as a single piece.

The reverse side of the Medallion is engraved with the names the University has formally held since its inception: Dakota Agricultural College, 1884-1889; South Dakota Agricultural College, 1890-1907; South Dakota State College of Agricultural and Mechanic Arts, 1907-June 30, 1964; and South Dakota State University, July 1, 1964-Present.

The University Presidential Medallion was designed by Sioux Falls artist Jurek Jakowicz and was presented as a gift to the University by the SDSU Foundation. The Medallion is part of the University’s heritage and will pass to future presidents. It is traditionally worn by the University president at important ceremonial occasions.

Wapa’ha or Eagle Staff

The staff represents honor and tradition and symbolizes the spirit of leadership, achievement, bravery, and sacredness. Representations of the staff can be seen at the beginning of an event or ceremony. As the staff is carried in front of the procession it is a reflection of the core philosophy that embodies the founding principles of respect. The person who carries the staff is someone of importance, such as a veteran who has defended and served his/her nation. We are honored to have John LeRoy, carrying the Wapa’ha.

International Sashes

International graduates participating in today’s commencement ceremonies are wearing sashes that allow them to proudly represent their countries. The colors within each sash represent the colors of their nation’s flag.
THE ACADEMIC PROCESSIONAL

The academic procession which precedes the graduation ceremonies on college and university campuses is one of the oldest and colorful customs which link 21st century education with its early origins.

To signify the achievements of their students, American institutions of higher learning conduct a formal ceremony to award the appropriate degrees earned at the conclusion of prescribed study. The action of taking the degree – associate, bachelor’s, master’s or doctor’s – as well as the designation of the day itself – is Commencement.

Various explanations of the term “commencement” are possible. The most likely is that centuries ago the bachelor, originally an apprentice, began his apprenticeship upon that day; and with the degree of M.A. and Ph.D., the masters and doctors commenced their work upon the day their degrees were conferred. So today, the student, having finished his/her preliminary education, sets out on a career.

The academic regalia worn at Commencement is of medieval origin. The scholars of Bologna, Paris, Oxford, Cambridge, Louvain and Heidelberg dressed in a manner to distinguish themselves from the merchants and other townspeople. Since the 11th century, when the rise of the universities began, “learned clerks” robed themselves in gowns, caps and hoods, thus marking a difference between “town and gown.”

By this apparel they were recognized as belonging to the teaching guild which was the Guild of the Master of Arts. In this organization the bachelor was the apprentice of the master. This relationship was the forerunner of today’s academic structure, which often includes graduate and/or teaching assistants (usually studying for advanced degrees).

Generally in Europe, a professor wears the type of garment customary in the university where he/she is lecturing. In the United States our tradition differs; our professors continue to wear the gown and hood of the university where they received their highest degree.

The gown, in origin, may have been simply a type of overcoat to protect the teacher from the cold in the unheated buildings; the cut or style seems to be derived from ecclesiastical attire. It has usually been black. The gowns of bachelors and masters are usually without trimmings of any sort, whereas those of doctors are faced down the front with velvet and adorned with three velvet bars on the sleeves.

The cap or “mortarboard” may have come from the squarish cap worn by the masons of the Middle Ages, or perhaps was suggested by the shape of the books which occupied so much of the time of scholars. Attached to a button on the “mortarboard” is a tassel; bachelor’s and master’s are black or the color appropriate to the subject; those of doctors black or golden. The tassel is worn on the left side by those who are receiving or have received a degree.

The hood, a triangular fold of cloth worn over the back of the gown, is faced with colors which denote the field of study represented by the wearer’s degree; the colors of the lining are those of the college or university from which the degree was granted. The length of the hood is correspondingly longer with each degree.

The wide velvet borders extending down the front of the doctoral gown, the velvet bar on the sleeves, and the borders of most hoods are colored according to scholarly field of the wearer. The most usual of these are:

Agriculture and Biological Sciences........Maize
Arts and Sciences, B.A. .....................White
Arts and Sciences, B.S. ................Gold
Education and Human Sciences........Lilac

Engineering .........................Orange
Nursing ..............................Apricot
Pharmacy .............................Green

At South Dakota State University the tassel color signifies the college in which the degree is earned:
