The Ceremonial Mace

The Ceremonial Mace is traditionally carried by a university marshal at all formal academic occasions. The staff, which stands 36 inches high from top to bottom, is made of walnut with a mahogany finish. It is trimmed in 14k plated gold. At the top of the Mace is the great seal of South Dakota State University. The engraved inscription reads “South Dakota State University founded 1881.” The Mace was presented to the University as a gift from the SDSU Alumni Association and was used for the first time at President Peggy Gordon Miller’s inauguration, Sept. 19, 1998.

The Ceremonial Mace has an ancient history as a symbol of authority. In medieval times it was a studded, clublike weapon, made of iron and capable of breaking armor. It became associated with the protection of the king in France and England and was carried by the king’s sergeant-at-arms. In the 13th century, it was used for civil purposes and figured in the processions of city mayors and other dignitaries. Eventually, the Mace became a symbol also for academic institutions, an emblem of order and authority in the pageantry of ceremonial occasions.

The University Presidential Medallion

The University Presidential Medallion, a traditional symbol of authority of the Office of the President, is a 14k gold replica of the University Seal, is 3 inches in diameter and is cast as a single piece.

The reverse side of the Medallion is engraved with the names the University has formally held since its inception: Dakota Agricultural College, 1884-1889; South Dakota Agricultural College, 1890-1907; South Dakota State College of Agricultural and Mechanic Arts, 1907-June 30, 1964; and South Dakota State University, July 1, 1964-Present.

The University Presidential Medallion was designed by Sioux Falls artist Jurek Jakowicz and was presented as a gift to the University by the SDSU Foundation. The Medallion is part of the University’s heritage and will pass to future presidents. It is traditionally worn by the University president at important ceremonial occasions.
The Academic Processional

The academic processional, which precedes the graduation ceremonies on college and university campuses, is one of the oldest and most colorful customs that link 21st century education with its early origins.

To signify the achievements of their students, American institutions of higher learning conduct a formal ceremony to award the appropriate degrees earned at the conclusion of prescribed study. The action of taking the degree – associate, bachelor’s, master’s or doctor’s – as well as the designation of the day itself—is Commencement.

Various explanations of the term “commencement” are possible. The most likely is that centuries ago the bachelor, originally an apprentice, began his apprenticeship upon that day; and with the degree of M.A. and Ph.D., the masters and doctors commenced their work upon the day their degrees were conferred. So today, the student, having finished his/her preliminary education, sets out on a career.

The academic regalia worn at Commencement is of medieval origin. The scholars of Bologna, Paris, Oxford, Cambridge, Louvain and Heidelberg dressed in a manner to distinguish themselves from the merchants and other townspeople. Since the 11th century, when the rise of the universities began, “learned clerks” robed themselves in gowns, caps and hoods, thus marking a difference between “town and gown.”

By this apparel, they were recognized as belonging to the teaching guild which was the Guild of the Master of Arts. In this organization, the bachelor was the apprentice of the master. This relationship was the forerunner of today’s academic structure, which often includes graduate and/or teaching assistants (usually studying for advanced degrees).

Generally in Europe, a professor wears the type of garment customary in the university where he/she is lecturing. In the United States, our tradition differs; our professors continue to wear the gown and hood of the university where they received their highest degree.

The gown, in origin, may have been simply a type of overcoat to protect the teacher from the cold in the unheated buildings; the cut or style seems to be derived from ecclesiastical attire. It has usually been black. The gowns of bachelor’s and master’s are usually without trimmings of any sort, whereas those of doctors are faced down the front with velvet and adorned with three velvet bars on the sleeves.

The cap or “mortarboard” may have come from the squarish cap worn by the masons of the Middle Ages, or perhaps was suggested by the shape of the books which occupied so much of the time of scholars. Attached to a button on the “mortarboard” is a tassel; bachelor’s and master’s are black or the color appropriate to the subject; those of doctors black or golden. The tassel is worn on the left side by those who are receiving or have received a degree.

The hood, a triangular fold of cloth worn over the back of the gown, is faced with colors which denote the field of study represented by the wearer’s degree; the colors of the lining are those of the college or university from which the degree was granted. The length of the hood is correspondingly longer with each degree.

The wide velvet borders extending down the front of the doctoral gown, the velvet bar on the sleeves and the borders of most hoods are colored according to scholarly field of the wearer.

At South Dakota State University the tassel color signifies the college in which the degree is earned:

WAPA’HA OR EAGLE STAFF
The staff represents honor and tradition and symbolizes the spirit of leadership, achievement, bravery and sacredness. Representations of the staff can be seen at the beginning of an event or ceremony. As the staff is carried in front of the procession, it is a reflection of the core philosophy that embodies the founding principles of respect.

INTERNATIONAL SASHES
International graduates participating in today’s commencement ceremonies are wearing sashes that allow them to proudly represent their countries. The colors within each sash represent the colors of their nation’s flag.

LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT
South Dakota State University is located on the ancestral territory of the Oceti Sakowin (Seven Council Fires), an alliance that consisted of the Santee, Yankton and Teton Lakota. They are commonly known as the Sioux by non-native people. The seven tribes now occupy nine different reservations in South Dakota. The nine reservations are: Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe, Crow Creek Sioux Tribe, Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribe, Lower Brule Sioux Tribe, Oglala Sioux Tribe, Rosebud Sioux Tribe, Sisseton-Wahpeton Oyate, Standing Rock Sioux Tribe and the Yankton Sioux Tribe.

As part of our university’s effort to enact inclusive practices, this acknowledgment serves as a reminder that before this site was called SDSU, it was called home to Native Nations indigenous to this location.
Carol Johnston, Ph.D.

HONORARY MARSHAL

B.S., CORNELL UNIVERSITY, 1974
M.S., UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON, 1977
Ph.D., UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON, 1982

Professor Emerita Carol A. Johnston taught hundreds of students in South Dakota State University ecology and environmental science courses before retiring in January 2019. Her research on wetlands and land-use change brought in $3.59 million in grant awards. Johnston is the most-cited author at SDSU, having written or served as a co-author for seven books and 169 research papers that have been cited more than 12,500 times.

In addition to her teaching and research, she advised undergraduate and graduate students and the SDSU Ecology Club.

A fellow of the Society of Wetland Scientists, a 3,000-member professional society, Johnston also served as the society’s president. She received the 2009 National Wetlands Award for Science Research from the Environmental Law Institute in Washington, D.C. Johnston has also been elected or appointed to committees of the National Academy of Science, the U.S. EPA Science Advisory Board, the Soil Science Society of America and the Consortium of Universities for the Advancement of Hydrologic Science.

Johnston received her master’s and doctoral degrees in soil science from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Before coming to SDSU in 2003, she was employed by the University of Minnesota-Duluth and the National Science Foundation.
Alireza Salehnia, Ph.D.

HONORARY MARSHAL

B.S., IRANIAN INSTITUTE OF ADVANCED ACCOUNTING, 1975
MBA, CENTRAL STATE UNIVERSITY, 1977
Ph.D., THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-COLUMBIA, 1989

Alireza Salehnia joined South Dakota State University as an assistant professor in August 1989. During his stay, he has taught almost every undergraduate and five graduate computer science courses.

He had numerous roles in the Jerome J. Lohr College of Engineering such as acting department head and coordinator of the computer science and software engineering programs. In addition, he helped establish the M.S. in computer science program. He served as an evaluator of the NSF OMEGA scholarship committee as well as a judge for the South Central South Dakota Science and Engineering Fair.

His research and scholarly activity included a $1.2 million OMEGA/STEM grant from the National Science Foundation. He was also named a visiting scholar at EROS Data Center/NASA and produced more than 40 peer-reviewed papers nationally and internationally.

Salehnia has advised more than 300 undergraduate students, including more than 40 computer science and information management students, and mentored 30 STEM scholarship recipients.

Salehnia was also active with the Brookings County Red Cross and the Brookings Human Rights Committee.
Larry Tidemann grew up on a farm near Baltic, South Dakota, and graduated from Baltic High School. He received a bachelor’s degree in dairy science from SDSU in 1970 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army. He earned his Master of Science in dairy nutrition in 1972.

Tidemann began his professional career as a county extension agent in Lincoln County in 1972, where he worked for 11 years providing educational programs in 4-H youth development, agriculture and rural development. While in Lincoln County, he and other community leaders were successful in starting two rural water systems in Lincoln and Union counties.

In 1983, Tidemann became the agriculture and natural resources program leader for the SDSU Cooperative Extension Service. He later was named director of Cooperative Extension and associate dean of agriculture, a position he held until his retirement in 2004, completing a 32-year career with SDSU.

Even though he retired from SDSU, he never stopped working in support of his alma mater. In 2004, he was elected to the South Dakota State Legislature as a representative from District 7 in Brookings County. After three terms in the State House of Representatives, he was elected as a state senator and completed his fourth term last year. He served on the appropriations committee all 14 years and was chair or vice chair for 11 of those years. During his tenure in the South Dakota legislature, more than $500 million in building projects for SDSU were authorized, along with funding to support student scholarships, research projects and several other pieces of legislation that have had a significant impact on SDSU.

He and his wife, Gail, a former dean at SDSU, have two grown sons.
Madison Hokanson
STUDENT SPEAKER

Maddie Hokanson is a senior from Goodhue, Minnesota, graduating in agricultural education, communication and leadership. She grew up as the seventh generation on her family’s pig and cattle farm. Desiring to remain tied directly to agriculture, Hokanson will return to her family’s farm to work as the accountant while also continuing in communications for several companies in the agriculture industry. She and her husband, Eric, who is also graduating from SDSU today, will be moving to Wanamingo, Minn.

While attending SDSU, Hokanson was active in numerous organizations including Little International where she was the 96th secretary, Agricultural Communicators of Tomorrow as president and Sigma Alpha Agricultural Sorority serving as the 2018 first vice president. She was also an ambassador for the College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences. She worked with Robert Thaler and the National Pork Board’s “Operation Main Street” program to give virtual tours of the SDSU Swine Education and Research Unit to national audiences.

WAPA’HA OR EAGLE STAFF
The staff represents honor and tradition and symbolizes the spirit of leadership, achievement, bravery and sacredness. Representations of the staff can be seen at the beginning of an event or ceremony. As the staff is carried in front of the procession, it is a reflection of the core philosophy that embodies the founding principles of respect.

INTERNATIONAL SASHES
International graduates participating in today’s commencement ceremonies are wearing sashes that allow them to proudly represent their countries. The colors within each sash represent the colors of their nation’s flag.

LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT
South Dakota State University is located on the ancestral territory of the Oceti Sakowin (Seven Council Fires), an alliance that consisted of the Santee, Yankton and Teton Lakota. They are commonly known as the Sioux by non-native people. The seven tribes now occupy nine different reservations in South Dakota. The nine reservations are: Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe, Crow Creek Sioux Tribe, Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribe, Lower Brule Sioux Tribe, Oglala Sioux Tribe, Rosebud Sioux Tribe, Sisseton-Wahpeton Oyate, Standing Rock Sioux Tribe and the Yankton Sioux Tribe.
As part of our university’s effort to enact inclusive practices, this acknowledgment serves as a reminder that before this site was called SDSU, it was called home to Native Nations indigenous to this location.
Nancy Lyons, Ph.D.

HONORARY MARSHAL

B.S., NORTH DAKOTA STATE UNIVERSITY, 1974
M.S., NORTH DAKOTA STATE UNIVERSITY, 1977
Ph.D., UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH DAKOTA, 2001

Nancy Lyons had worked in theater costuming at North Dakota State University and had been an assistant designer at Jones of Dallas in Dallas—positions that gave her a reputation as one who knew apparel design, sewing and production techniques.

Her entire teaching career was spent at South Dakota State University, starting as an instructor in 1977 when the department’s name was textiles and clothing. When the department's focus changed, its name was changed to apparel merchandising and that meant different teaching assignments. Lyons began her career teaching courses as apparel design, flat pattern design, draping and apparel manufacturing, but later taught courses as fashion economics, retailing and merchandising.

Lyons frequently planned the required travel studies course and accompanied students to varied market centers; prepared students for their practicums, supervised their practicums at retailers or other fashion businesses, and taught the capstone course that helps them connect academic theory to their chosen profession. Dress in world cultures, socio-psychological aspects of dress, history of dress, aesthetics, textiles, ready-to-wear analysis, trending and buying, and professional behavior at work have been among her other teaching assignments. Summer 2018 saw the program change again, this time to fashion studies and retail merchandising to better reflect the thrust of a newer age.

Lyons began teaching in 2005 for the GP IDEA distance education program. SDSU has a strong presence in this Interactive Distance Education Alliance. The merchandising program, taught jointly and entirely online by faculty from five universities, prepares graduate students to work in market research; product development; promotions, retail or sales management; social media marketing; sourcing and supply chain management. Lyons is the program’s assessment coordinator. She has supervised master’s theses, practicums and special projects for these students and her product design, development and evaluation course helps students work with customer-focused product development strategies. Lyons will continue to teach for GP IDEA upon retirement.

Lyons’ undergraduate degree was in fashion design and she added a master’s degree in textiles and clothing, both from North Dakota State University. She earned a doctorate in educational administration from the University of South Dakota in 2001.
David Graper, Ph.D.
HONORARY MARSHAL

B.S., UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-RIVER FALLS, 1983
M.S., COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY, 1985
Ph.D., UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND, 1990

A professor of horticulture, David Graper has been at SDSU since 1990. He originally started with a 100 percent SDSU Extension horticulture position and worked to revive the Master Gardener program. The program resumed training in 1993. He coordinated the State Master Gardener program until 2003. In 2005, he became the director of McCrory Gardens and the South Dakota State Arboretum for nine years.

Graper was very proud to be a part of McCrory Gardens, especially during the construction of the Education and Visitor Center. The facility transformed McCrory Gardens into a year-round facility for education, outreach and the enjoyment of gardening and nature for the residents and visitors of eastern South Dakota.

He was named the head of the Department of Horticulture, Forestry, Landscape and Parks in 2006 and continued in that role until the department merged with two other departments in 2010. He resumed his role as the state Extension Master Gardener coordinator in 2015.

Graper currently teaches herbaceous plants and greenhouse management, plant propagation and graduate seminar. He has also taught greenhouse and nursery crops and undergraduate seminar. Graper’s areas of special interest are perennial flowers, greenhouse production and field cut flower production. Graper was on the South Dakota Public Television show “Garden Line” (a viewer call-in program) for 18 years and has been an All-American Selections Judge for the past 14 years. His hobbies, other than gardening, include photography, building and flying model rockets and fishing.

Graper earned his B.S. in plant science from the University of Wisconsin-River Falls (1983), his M.S. in horticulture from Colorado State University (1985) and his Ph.D. in horticulture from the University of Maryland (1990).
Robert Burns, Ph.D.

GUEST SPEAKER

Robert (Bob) Burns is a native of Flandreau, South Dakota, and a 1964 political science graduate of SDSU. He subsequently earned an M.A. (1966) and a Ph.D. (1973) in political science from the University of Missouri-Columbia. He served as an officer in the U.S. Army from 1968-1970, including one year as captain in Vietnam. He was awarded a Bronze Star for Meritorious Service and the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster while serving in Vietnam.

Burns was invited to join the SDSU political science faculty in 1970, serving for 38 years until his retirement. His primary teaching and research interests were in the areas of American public policy and public law. During his tenure at SDSU, he received many teaching awards including being named College of Arts and Sciences’ “Teacher of the Year” seven different years, Distinguished Professor of Political Science in 1994 by the S.D. Board of Regents and 1995 S.D. Professor of the Year by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching for extraordinary dedication to undergraduate teaching. In addition, he served as department head for the Departments of Political Science and Philosophy and Religion for nearly 20 years. He served as acting director of the USD Farber Center from January to July 1998.

During the last 10 years at SDSU, he served first as director and later as the first dean of what is now the Van D. and Barbara B. Fishback Honors College in addition to his teaching and department head duties. Upon his retirement, the Board of Regents honored Burns with the titles Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Political Science and Dean Emeritus of the SDSU Honors College. He was also honored as an SDSU Distinguished Alumnus by the SDSU Alumni Association in 2008.

Burns continues to provide analysis regarding South Dakota and national elections, policies and constitutional issues. He has served on national, regional and multiple state and local civic and government boards, commissions, task forces and councils during his professional life and that service continues into retirement. Currently, he enjoys teaching Osher Lifelong Learning Institute courses, providing leadership for the S.D. World Affairs Council and serving on the SDSU Foundation Council of Trustees.

He was awarded the Gip Nolan Award for outstanding community service by the Brookings Chamber of Commerce in 2003 and the Liberty Bell Award by the Brookings Bar Association in 2008 also for outstanding community service. He was inducted into the S.D. Hall of Fame in September 2016 for exceptional service to education. He married Donna (Bozied) in 1964. They have three adult children, Cari (Wayne Wagner), Jonathan (Angie) and Tim (Missy), and 11 grandchildren, who reside close to their home in Brookings.
Kevy Konynenbelt

STUDENT SPEAKER

Kevy Konynenbelt is a graduating senior from Fergus Falls, Minnesota. The excellence of the Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science and the friendliness and support of its faculty drew Konynenbelt to South Dakota State University. She soon discovered her passion for literature and composition and added English studies to her coursework. Today, Konynenbelt graduates with her Bachelor of Arts in English. Upon graduation, she will continue to pursue both fields, finishing her Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering while beginning a Master of Arts in English writing and rhetoric. She plans to work in technical communications and eventually write about her experiences traveling to Mars.

During her time at State, Konynenbelt has shared her love of SDSU with prospective students through her role as an Admissions Ambassador. She has enriched her academic experience with service learning and study abroad trips to China, Bolivia, Indonesia and France. Other extracurricular activities include the Van D. and Barbara B. Fishback Honors College, Society of Women Engineers, Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and Students’ Association.

Ring the Bell

Ring the bell for South Dakota
The Yellow and the Blue;
Cheer the team from South Dakota
With loyal hearts so true;
Win the game for South Dakota
The school that serves us well;
We will fight for South Dakota
SO let’s ring, ring, ring those bells.
