Provide explanation of differences between proposed course and existing system catalog courses below:

The existing courses are both clinical courses for undergraduate nursing students intended for clinical experiences in the off-campus environment (hospitals, community, etc.). The proposed course, NURS 225, will focus on application in the on-campus clinical environment, including the simulation skills lab, and will not include any off-campus clinical. The proposed course will also include all skills for nursing students, which is different than the existing courses. Additionally, NURS 235 is a part of the current BSN curriculum and will remain in place until currently enrolled students finish and then this course will be terminated.
